

Debian Women Mini DebConf

Bucharest, May 16th-17th 2015

This Mini DebConf will be a weekend full of both talks and social events, to which everyone in Debian is invited but the speakers in the talks are all people who identify themselves as female. We consider this important to:

- Encourage women who haven't yet given their first DebConf talk
- Provide role models for women who are interested in contributing
- Debunk the myth that there are not enough women who can give talks in DebConf

Last year we organized a similar Mini DebConf in Barcelona. It gathered 150 attendees from all around the world, featured plenty of interesting talks and social events that led to the furthering of involvement for many of the participants.

It was a great success and we hope to make this year's edition another very successful MiniDebConf.
